Bd. of Estimate OK's Public Hearing On Mill Basin Buses

Whether the Pioneer Bus Co. or the Transit Authority will get a permanent franchise to operate a bus line into the Mill Basin area will be decided at a public hearing to be held Sept. 15.

The Board of Estimate voted last week (July 28) to hold a public hearing to settle the controversy that began last February when Pioneer received temporary franchise to run buses into Mill Basin.

The public hearing was recommended to the Board by James Thornton, who heads the Bureau of Franchises. Thornton said he asked for the hearing after a study of the route that began last April showed disagreement among affected residents.

The Transit Authority came out against the line last February when Pioneer began running buses to the Kings Highway BMT.

When Pioneer began running buses to the Kings Highway BMT last February, the Transit Authority came out against the line and claimed the private line was in direct competition to TA routes. The TA also pointed out that Pioneer's was the only private bus line operating wholly inside the borough.

The TA proposed its own link to Mill Basin and filed with the Public Service Commission.

Final decision on a permanent franchise rests with the Board of Estimate. The Bureau of Franchises can only issue a temporary franchise.

Meanwhile, Pioneer announced that the Public Service Commission has renewed its temporary by the Board of Estimate.

Edward Vallone, president of the line, said the new permit is valid for 180 days which is the usual period granted by the agency.

The bus line also extended its Mill Basin route this week by a quarter of a mile.

The bus route now extends from the Kings Highway BMT subway station to McMullen Drive South and E. 66th St. instead of the old terminal point at Bassett Ave. and E. 66th St.

Some hi-fi tradition has it that for a loudspeaker system to be of first rank it must use a very large enclosure.

The idea that a mammoth speaker cabinet is necessary for ultimate quality is now an old wives' tale, rendered obsolete by Acoustic Research's AR-1, AR-2, and AR-3 speaker systems. AR's "acoustic suspension" design establishes new industry standards in speaker performance, and at the same time requires a bookshelf-size cabinet.

AR speakers are employed as recording and broadcast studio monitors and as laboratory test instruments. Their most important application, however, is to provide natural musical reproduction in the home.

AR speaker systems, complete with cabinets, are priced from $89. to $231. You may write for more information to:
